Our graduate curriculum provides a safe but challenging environment to approach interdisciplinarity in the arts. We embrace new technologies and pedagogies, while also considering self-empowerment, community impact, and/or social justice. M.F.A in Art (concentration in Studio Art) and M.A. in Art (concentration in Art History and Visual Culture) students participate in an end-of-year review after the second long semester (18+ semester credit hours) in the division in order to advance to the next level; at which time, each student is appointed a graduate advisory committee to assist and counsel their progress. M.F.A. students also have a review after their fourth long semester (36+ semester credit hours) after which they suggest their own selections for their advisory committee.

The M.F.A. degree is granted through the Federation of North Texas Area Universities.
