

POST-BACCALAUREATE CERTIFICATE IN HEALTH INFORMATICS

Web Site: <https://twu.edu/nursing/certifications/>

This certificate program is intended for those professionals who have a bachelor's degree or higher, and seek additional education and training in health informatics. The certificate program is designed for students from a variety of disciplines including, but not limited to Nursing, Occupational Therapy, Physical Therapy, Nutrition Science, Health Systems Management, and Business. The program provides interdisciplinary and collaborative learning experiences. The curriculum consists of 15 credits of coursework, including supervised practicums in health informatics. Course content includes health data management, health information system management, telehealth, and healthcare data-related regulations.