

MASTER OF ARTS IN READING EDUCATION

Web Site: <https://twu.edu/literacy-and-learning/graduate-programs/masters-in-reading-education/>

The Masters of Arts in Reading Education degree includes required master's coursework with a thesis as the capstone experience. Optional to this degree, upon completion of the coursework, graduate students may take the Texas All-Level (K-12) Reading Specialist Certification exam. If this optional certification is pursued, the TWU EPP Graduate Professional Certification Application must be completed prior to beginning the coursework.

- Reading Specialist certification requires two years of teaching experience.
- With the successful completion of M.Ed. coursework, the Department of Literacy and Learning will recommend applicants to take the Texas K-12 Reading Specialist exam.

Students holding a master's degree may take 18 semester credit hours of core coursework to be recommended for the Reading Specialist certificate.
