Undergraduate admission to Texas Woman's University is based on a number of criteria including academic achievement, academic preparation, and in some instances standardized test scores. An offer of admission from TWU is valid for four terms if the applicant has not attended another institution of higher education. If a student does not attend TWU within four terms, she or he must reapply and submit the appropriate credentials. Applicants who would like to make changes to an application should contact the Office of Admissions (<http://www.twu.edu/admissions-processing/>) or complete the Application Change (<https://apps.twu.edu/admissionsprocessing/appchangeform.aspx>) form. For specific undergraduate admission requirements, please refer to the links below.
