

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN ENGLISH (WRITING AND RHETORIC)

Web Site: <https://twu.edu/english-speech-foreign-languages/undergraduate-program/>

The Writing and Rhetoric track provides students with training in the many genres they will encounter as writers in professional settings and includes several courses taught in our cutting-edge Digital Composition Lab. Courses focus on developing the ability to compose in a variety of media for professional and general audiences, often providing opportunities to work with clients in the community. Students are encouraged to take advantage of the Internship course for additional hands-on experience. This track prepares students for careers in publishing, non-profits, social media, public relations, and grant writing, among many other fields. Students interested in graduate study in Writing, Rhetoric, and related fields will find a strong foundation in this track. While many courses for this program may be taken online, it is not an online degree.

Marketable Skills

Defined by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board's 60x30 Strategic Plan (<https://reportcenter.highered.texas.gov/agency-publication/miscellaneous/the60x30-strategic-plan/>) as, "Those skills valued by employers that can be applied in a variety of work settings, including interpersonal, cognitive, and applied skills areas. These skills can be either primary or complementary to a major and are acquired by students through education, including curricular, co-curricular, and extracurricular activities."

1. Communicate effectively to diverse audiences using a range of media and technology.
2. Organize, synthesize, and evaluate the credibility of information, such as, but not limited to, a range of academic and non-academic sources, and use this knowledge to make ethical decisions.
3. Use effective research strategies to inform argument-driven projects.
