The Bachelor of General Studies (BGS) degree, offered through the College of Arts and Sciences (http://catalog.twu.edu/undergraduate/arts-sciences/), is an interdisciplinary program that provides versatility for adult learners and part-time students who need a flexible curriculum designed to balance work and life responsibilities with educational goals. The BGS degree may be completed 100% online, or on the Denton campus in a face-to-face format.

Concentration areas may be selected from the following disciplines:

- · Business*
- · Computer Science*
- · Criminal Justice*
- · English*
- · Health Studies*
- History
- Mathematics
- · Multicultural Women's and Gender Studies*
- · Political Science*
- · Psychology*
- · Sociology*
- Visual Arts
- * Indicates concentration area may be completed 100% online. More detailed information about the BGS program is available on the General Studies Program website (https://twu.edu/genstudies/).

Concentration areas may be selected from the following disciplines with approval from the BGS program:
